Course Objective: is to equip students to get well versed with four skills of the Spanish language: reading, writing, speaking and listening and train them to communicate well using a methodology followed by the CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference). This in turn this will give them the following advantages.

- Being able to speak Spanish greatly enhances your resumé.
- If you are bilingual you are more competitive in the workplace.
- The progressive increase of Spanish-speakers continues to grow year after year, while other languages such as Chinese and English have not been increasing quite as rapidly thus - Learning Spanish is a definite investment into your future.
- For many, learning Spanish is rapidly becoming a business necessity. Knowing Spanish will completely transform your travel experience.
- Learning Spanish will allow you to better appreciate Hispanic cultural contributions.
- Learning Spanish is necessary to keep pace with popular culture.
- Learning Spanish is actually a medical device!
- For many, learning Spanish is rapidly becoming a business necessity. In North America, Hispanic consumers are the fastest-growing market segment. As for job opportunities, it certainly wouldn't hurt to have Spanish on your resumé. knowing Spanish can be particularly helpful if you work in healthcare or education.
- One thing is certain. If you are bilingual, you will be more marketable and have more career choices than your monolingual counterpart. Globalization, with its accompanying free trade agreements is shrinking the business world, and those who know more than one language will definitely have the edge.

- Spanish, Spanish everywhere!
